The mouth cannon of the powerful country and the artillery of the beautiful country

The "epic fury" operation of the United States and Israel to attack Iran from February 28 is an unprecedented ultra-modern war. In just a few days, Iran's navy and air force, as well as more than 90% of the missile and drone reserves and manufacturing forces, were destroyed at the cost of very few casualties.

The large-scale addition of high technology and artificial intelligence, accurate, fast and three-dimensional action scale, has pioneered human history.

The reason for the war should be told 47 years ago, and the plot is complicated. For decades, terror and conflict have caused people's lives to be miserable and sacrificed, and years of peace efforts have been hopeless. There is little doubt that if Iran succeeds in nuclear weapons this year, the entire Middle East will be further kidnapped by terrorist forces, become a larger powder keg, and endanger the world.

Iran's artillery is powerful, and the mouth cannon is extremely fierce. Before the war, it was widely said that "why didn't Khamenei panic" and that he could destroy Israel in "half an hour". In fact, everyone knows very well that there is the full support of China and Russia of the Axis countries behind it. Of course, 90% of them are still mouthful.

Before the war, the Communist Party of China sent radars that could blow to the sky and defend against stealth F22 and F35 aircraft, supersonic missiles that could hit aircraft carriers, and countless drilling technologies that could allow leaders, missiles and drones to drill underground to avoid death.

Therefore, Iran's ambition lies in clearly seeing the "big trend" of "rising from the east to falling from the west" and those countless guarantees. The Eastern powers will definitely do everything and do their best to save each other. Because the dictatorial system knows that it can continue to rule by keeping warm back to back.

Whether it is Iran or other Axis countries, the mouth is the best, which is a necessary means for the survival of an authoritarian dictatorship. The United States and Western countries, the only one who can be seen is that MAGA, is also scolded to death by the domestic people, which is indistingusible.

The United States and Idea both said "let Iran be great again", while Iran and the Axis countries both shouted "let you die". There are many things that can be compared in this world. For many people, mouth guns and artillery can reflect the real cost performance.

From the elegant side, the mouth gun complements the grand narrative. But if the world is the number one in terms of mouth cannon, the current world is the Communist Party of China.

And its artillery power has become a world-class joke in Iran this time.

Especially those radars blown to the sky, Red Flag 9B air defense missiles and supersonic aircraft carrier missiles.

The outside world exclaimed, are they all made of paper paste?

I am one of the first bloggers to systematically introduce the paper-paste military products of the Communist Party of China on the Internet. However, it must be admitted that there are far more people who are superstitious than rational analysts among Chinese. From the recent India, Pakistan, Venezuela, to the current Iran, your great bragging image of your motherland is really blown away.

But the Communist Party of China "does not panic", because it has the weapon of blocking the Internet and banning words like Iran. Therefore, the mouth cannon has been fought all over the world from the Iron Curtain. Whether you are joking or not, anyway, the mouth gun is easier and more cost-effective than artillery, and it has earned face for the emperor.

More than two weeks after the war, the mainland's official and self-media suddenly began to boil since last weekend. Almost overnight, a large number of posts and small videos poured into WeChat, Xiaohongshu, Twitter or Facebook and other platforms.

The theme of the mouth is to glorify the defeat of Iran and the defeat of the United States. The immination is that the United States is going to die. There are many unimaginable topics and contents of Xinkou Kaihe.

For example: "Iran is getting tougher and harder, and the United States is sinking deeper and deeper", "Iran uses (China) tactics to make up for the military disadvantage", saying that "27 U.S. military bases, a large number of radars and key facilities have been destroyed", and aircraft carriers have been blown up N times.

A large number of videos secretly released by the official claim that Israel has been paralyzed: all military targets, such as the Negev nuclear facility, all airports and military ports in Haifa, have been turned to ashes. And the U.S. Fifth Fleet in the Middle East has been completely destroyed.

The video praises Israel's stereo air defense facilities as the world's first, and the missile interception density is 375 times that of the United States. Therefore, the "Victory of Iran, a Middle Country" provides evidence on the battlefield for China and Russia (N times higher than Iran) to attack the United States. They announced that they could easily "completely destroy the United States" in an instant in the future.

The actual situation is that in less than two weeks, Iran is close to military death, and more than 50 top heads of the regime have been accurately beheaded, in a de facto headless situation. More than 120 Iranian surface ships were severely hit or sunk, and all of them have been cleared. The air force has also disappeared, and the underground missile and drone production lines have been buried underground forever. It is said that more than 100,000 soldiers, including hundreds of Chinese technical consultants, were buried together in the cave.

All these things that are wholesaled abroad can't stand a little verification and a little rational logical argument. Is this the so-called "cognitive war"? Use lies to annihilate all the truth.

The U.S. and I.-I.K. aircraft have long been flying over Iran, looking for the target to kill. Unexpectedly, it was the U.S.-Irekilian allied forces that cursed?

I almost began to doubt my life: how can there be such an upstled Ah Q in the world?

Who will be cursed by Iran's energy or fate in the end?

I have seen many people who lie and don't blush, but it's really sad to see our motherland, living in such an absurd century, an interest group kidnapped more than one billion people!

The mouthpieces of the Communist Party of China look stupid, but they have their elaborate calculations. Its purpose is to fool the insider or stir up international public opinion, but the latter's effect is extremely limited. Overseas, the Communist Party of China is a big joke.

At the core level, the Communist Party of China began to secretly rectify and arrest scientific researchers in military-industrial enterprises. There is no impetrating wall, and a large amount of internal clean-up information has been leaked overseas.

It is said on the Internet that "the first unlucky are the "experts" and "scientific Taidou" related to the work of missiles, radars, nuclear weapons and stealth fighters". When the three names Wu Manqing, Wei Yiyin and Zhao Xiangeng were removed from the list of academicians, what the outside world saw was not only the disappearance of the three names, but also the collapse of the three pillars of national defense.

Blindness of "radar "eyes": Wu Manqing is the founder of digital array radar and the "brain" designer of Air Police-500. When radar experts fall, are those "fire eyes" that claim to be able to find stealth fighters, just a pile of pseudo-data brushed on the simulator like water-injected missiles?

"The lost way of guiding the "hub": Wei Yiyin has been cultivating missile guidance and control for decades. If the leader of the guidance system is deeply corrupt, is the so-called "precise strike" of Dongfeng Express to lock the enemy aircraft carrier, or is it "lost" due to the forgery of chips and algorithms at the critical moment?

"The crack of the "nuclear shield": Zhao Xiangeng was in charge of the research and development of nuclear weapons. When nuclear experts are also included in the cleaning list, this deterrent is no longer as simple as "water injection", but directly touches the deepest bottom card of national security, the reliability of "nuclear deterrence".

"Nuclear power (Luo Qi), missile control (Xiao Longxu), bulletproof materials (Zhou Guotai), power machinery (Jin Donghan), aviation system (Cao Jianguo), Yang Wei, the father of J-20. This is not only the fall of several generals, but also the "brains" of the entire supply chain, from nuclear submarines, missiles, engines to bulletproof vests, have suffered from collective corruption. Western observers marvel at the scale of this "scientific beheading": when a country's cutting-edge national defense talents are collectively involved in the power and money transaction, the so-called "self-research of technology" is likely to become a billion-dollar academic fraud targeting the highest level.

There is also unverified news:

"Before the war, the Communist Party of China secretly provided Iran with $5 billion in weapons, but each of them failed! There is a secret oil-to-arms deal between the Communist Party of China and Iran. Beijing urgently allocated a batch of weapons from its own inventory and quickly shipped them to Iran before the war began. Here is a list of weapons received by Iran: 50 CM-302 supersonic anti-ship missiles, the so-called "aircraft carrier killer", with a range of 290 kilometers. 6 sets of HQ-16B surface-to-air missile systems, 3 sets of HQ-9B anti-missile systems, 50 HQ-19 anti-satellite interception missiles, 1,200 FN-6 portable air defense missiles, 300 sunflower-200 suicide drones, 4 YLC-9B radars + 3 Type30 5A radar + 6 SLC-2 anti-arnillery radars. What's the result: The U.S.-Issestric destroyed all the CM-302 missiles in stock on the first day. Launched to the U.S. Navy, zero hit. Some missiles failed in flight, and others were intercepted by SM-3 and SM-6, with a 100% failure rate.

None of the American warships suffered even the slightest damage. CM-302 has no data link, no satellite guidance, no terminal active tracking, and it will fly blindly once launched. But the U.S. Navy has detected their whereabouts long ago. Losing face in Venezuela, the Communist Party of China bet everything on Iran this time, trying to make up for the lost face. As a result, the face was lost, and the inside was also lost. The dismantling of the Communist Party of China's weapons is much worse than we imagined. It's so miserable!"

The Communist Party of China lacks the soil for primitive scientific and technological innovation, which is determined by history, culture and system. Scientific and technological innovation requires talents with free tolerance and bottom-level thinking logic. Most Chinese people have no equality and care in their bones. Since childhood, they have been blinded by filial piety, obedience, obedience, monarchs and ministers and other feudal thinking. There are only the wishes and rules of survival of the three virtuous children. After growing up, all that remains is the scientific research quality of plagiarism, stealing and lying and flattering.

Being good at using mouth guns is actually a reflection of the whole social ecology, and it is an inevitable product of the oppression of human nature.

After going out ugly, the authoritarian group turned around to take the scientific research class, and in the end, even the serfives who played with words could only be forced to turn around. Just like Iran now, there is no secret to talk about. The head of the upper level of the group can be controlled by the other party at any time and become the target of precise strikes.

Compared with the mouth cannons of powerful countries, the American MAGA is serious. The purpose of all wars is within the range of artillery. At present, the two strategic goals are on the way:

It is expected that the U.S. military will eventually take over the Strait of Hormuz and have destroyed a mountain missile depot on the shore of the Strait of Hormuz. This is the weapon position that Iran has built in the Strait of Hormuz for 40 years, specifically threatening the security of the Strait. More than 200 Khorramshahr ballistic missiles are stored in the facility, all of which are now turned into dust.

"Pompeo has just released a big signal. The Strait of Hormuz is about to be permanently released. Thirty years of blackmail, the end. The joint meeting of Hegsese and the Chiefs of Staff is in the process of preliminary preparation. A large number of military resources are in place. Why don't you do it right away? Because it is necessary to ensure the absolute safety of the land, sea and air forces. This is not a simple cruise. The goal is to completely remove Iran's mine-mining capabilities and all missiles that threaten ships. Timetable? No one can give the exact date, which depends on the maturity of the conditions. In the past thirty years, the strait has never really opened up. Tehran has always used this waterway as a bargaining chip in the world. What's the result? It is an inferted risk premium and the sword of Damocles on global trade. In the past, Washington bureaucrats chose to endure and even appease. Now the new government is going to completely weld this door from the outside. It is not to clean up for a few months, but to achieve a long-term and fundamental improvement.

Several islands near the Strait of Hormuz, such as Kharg Island, which is connected to Iran's economic lifeline in the north, and several small islands near the Great Hormuz Island, may become the pockets of the Marine Corps. Many nearby U.S. military bases, as well as absolute control of the sky, sea and under the sea, coupled with the support of all neighboring countries, have created favorable conditions for long-term comprehensive control.

Tehran has always used the waterway as a bargaining chip to blackmail the world. The recent number of massacres against the people was 41,000, which aroused the world's anger. They even issued a notice that any protesters would be shot on the spot. Why does Washington have to do it? Because these crazy people are only a month or less away from possessing nuclear weapons. And when the war began, it was an indiscriminate attack on the surrounding Arab countries.

All these madness, in fact, pushed the Strait of Hormuz into the arms of the United States, and may eventually achieve all-round control of all strategic maritime transportation locations in the world without dead angles.

Such a strategic strike is a fatal and unacceptable disaster for the evil Axis countries. Therefore, it is reasonable to be tough and desperate to find the outlet for venting.

The second strategic goal is to target more than 400 kilograms of enriched uranium about 100 meters below the rock of the "Ho Mountain" in Isfahan, Iran. No one knows the true whereabouts of nuclear materials at present. Assuming that the Isfahan nuclear facility, which has been hit many times, has not been completely destroyed, there is still a possibility of rekindling in the future. In the case of the loss of sky power, the only consideration for how the special forces of the U.S. military will act is the Iranian ground forces. However, the latter should be quite limited in the case of a broken command chain.

In today's world, all parties are "telling their own stories", but often unconsciously participate in the narrative construction of others. You think you are weakening the other party, but in fact you are strengthening the part that the other party needs most.

When some countries, such as the Communist Party of China, say from time to time: the United States can't do it, democracy is a joke, and hegemony will end.

These words may be a "public opinion struggle" in our country, but in the United States, they automatically completed a "semantic deformation":

It is no longer "analysis", but "provocation";
It is no longer "criticism", but "declaration of war".

So the politician answered by the way: "Look, they are all laughing at us." One sentence is better than a thousand words of campaign advertisements.

In today's world, the speed of information flow is far faster than the imagination of the ancients. But one thing remains unchanged in ancient and modern times: once words cross the border, the meaning is bound to be transformed.

The original intention of the Communist Party of China may be to criticize the shortcomings of the U.S. system; but after media tailoring and social platform fermentation, it spread to the ears of American voters, it became: "They say that the United States is finished", "they think it can replace us", and the "translation" in the middle is that no one is responsible, but everyone benefits.

Especially those politicians who are good at emotional mobilization are even better. We vs them", now "they" are sent to the door in person, why not do it?

History has long been reconcised: external pressure has always been the best catalyst for internal mobilization.

When the outside world keeps claiming that the United States is in decline and the world no longer needs the United States, its system has failed. Such words will not trigger "deep reflection" (at least not at the public level) in the United States, but rather stimulate another emotion:

Not convinced. So logic quickly transformed into: "They must be proved wrong", "a tougher leader is needed", "they can't be weak anymore".

At this point, "MAGA" is no longer just a slogan, but has become an emotional outlet and a psychological defense mechanism.

In other words, the more you talk, the more he wants to "shell you greatness". Venezuela and Iran are the clear proof!

Donald Trump's "MAGA" did not arise out of thin air, nor was it just a product of American internal affairs; it also grew in the echo of global public opinion.

This is called:
The words of the world are often not owned by those who speak;
And the consequences of politics are often unexpected.

The mouth cannon of the Axis country is achieving Trump's MAGA.
